How-To

Step 1 - Cut Out Pennant

Print and cut out the pennant pattern of your choice. Be sure to print on tabloid-sized paper. Using a rotary blade or scissor, trace and cut your felt in the shape of your pattern. Be sure to include the white strip along the left edge.

Step 2 - Cut Fusible Webbing

Cut your fusible webbing to the size of your accent felt. Make your sheet of webbing slightly smaller than your felt so that it doesn't stick to your iron.

Step 3 - Iron to Fuse

Follow the instructions on the fusible webbing package to adhere the webbing to the felt. Use a handkerchief to protect your iron from getting sticky stuff on it.

Step 4 - Cut Letters + Edging Strip

Roughly cut out each letter of your pennant pattern and pin to your accent felt. Be sure to cut out the insides of any letters (like D and O) as this will make it easier to cleanly cut your felt.

Now take your fabric scissors and go to town cutting your felt. Keep in mind, the "angle" of the top and bottom lines of each letter are what make it look like a pennant. Focus on making those lines clean and everything should come together nicely!

Step 5 - Peel + Place Letters

Peel off the paper backing on each letter and place the letters and edging strip on the pennant.

Step 6 - Iron on Letters

We're almost done! Take back out that handkerchief and press your letters using the same technique you used in Step 3. Use your scissor to perfect the shape of your pennant if needed.

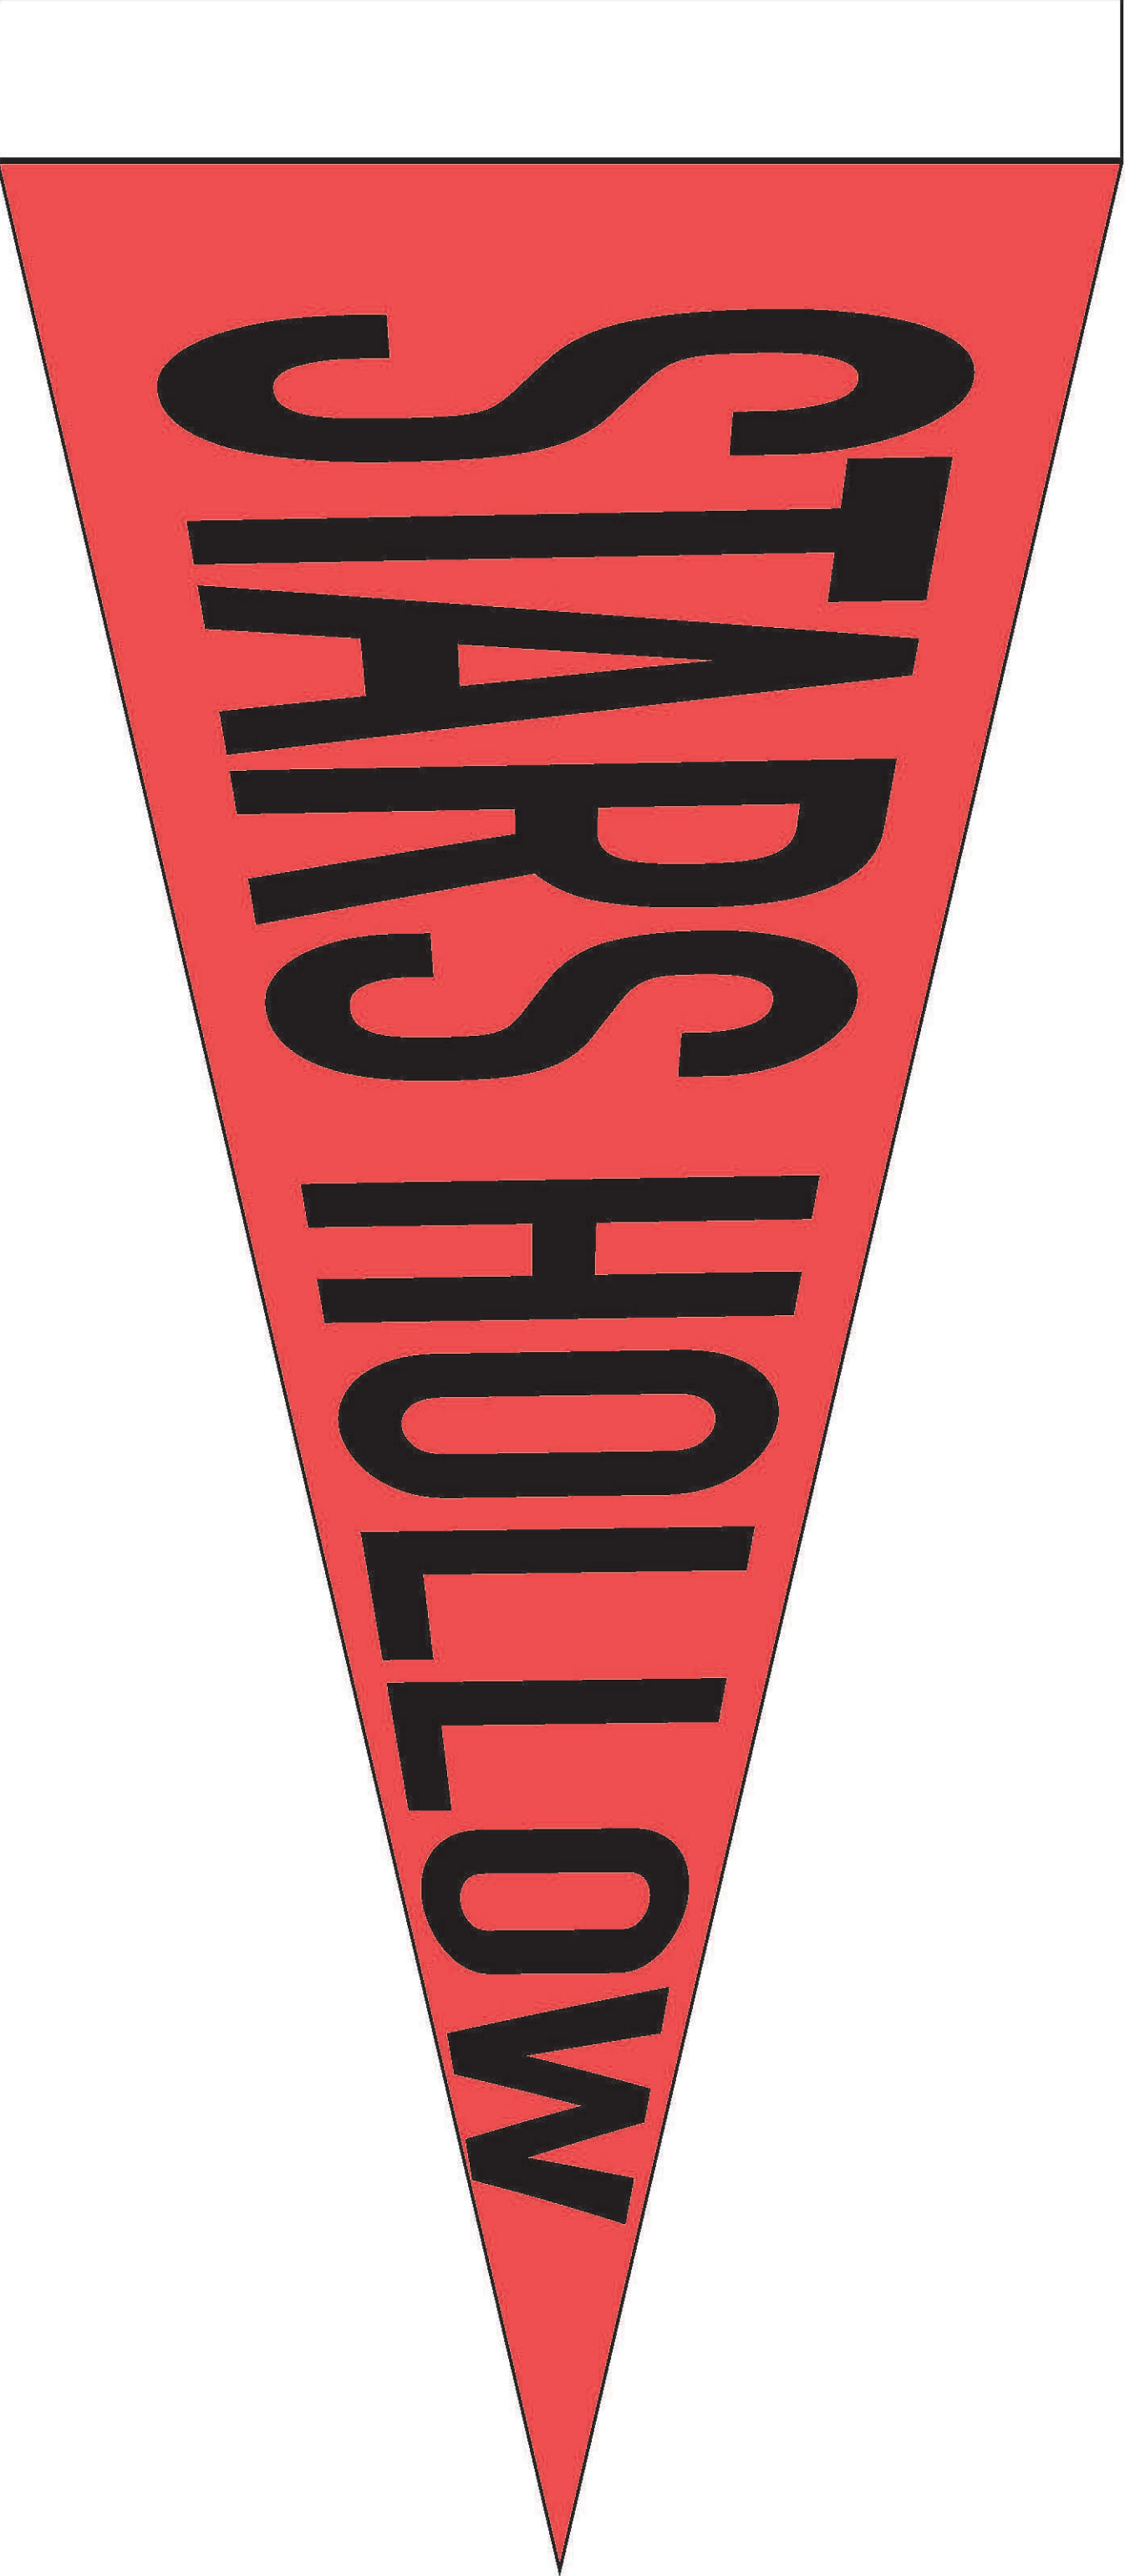

Step 7 - Victory!
